HOPEFUL AND WORKABLE DOCTRINE BY THE BIRMINGHAM NEWS

The Birmingham Reporter 3-28-

On this page of The Birmingham Reporter is published an editorial from The Birmingham News, entitled, "The Return of the Native Black From His Northern Adventures." The News has said some mighty encouraging words and has laid down some sound and helpful doctrine, encouraged many thousands of Negro people and no doubt has given a greater insight to Negro life to many white readers of that publication.

There is much weariness and dissatisfaction on the part of colored people at this time because of the many unexpected assaults and the lack of consideration on the part of the powers and institutions which they had every reason to believe would by this time have formed a more human attitude and civil consideration of their affairs. This is a sentiment-making editorial. It is the boldest for truth and justice of any we have seen for a long time penned by our Southern editors in discussing a condition of this nature. So different is this editorial to the others that have been printed on this subject. The fairness and justice of the opinion has attracted wide and favorable attention and The Reporter rises at this moment to thank The News for its consideration, for the encouragement and counsel given those in authority and the ones who are able to help and direct things humanly.

Our position all along has been very plain in the matter of a wholesale exodus of our people to any one section. It is fair to state that we were more pronounced in this matter, perhaps, than any other one publication in the South operated and controlled by Negro people. We considered it then unwise and we so consider it now. What we predicted has been bearing fruit for a long time and those who were disposed to abuse and count us traitors are now considering favorably the counsel and opinion advanced. We did not contend then and we do not contend now that we were bound and compelled to remain in any particular section, but common sense dictated that during an abnormal wave of prosperity was no time for a life-time investment in strange lands or territories, either in person or financial considerations, and certainly it was against good judgment to give away and sell out houses and lands before knowing of a permanent and substantial location elsewhere. Thousands of our people have done that and because of it thousands are suffering and many hundreds will never overcome the losses and disadvantages now confronting them.

It might be that this publication and its editor are too much in love with the South to gain popular accord of a radical and unsavory element of our own race, and certainly no consideration from the dominating power of political influences that direct political society of our people. We will admit that we are Southern, and have no apology to make. We are here to serve and will serve at every opportunity, and if opportunity is not given, we will make one.

We quite agree with The News that there is too much exploiting done on the part of our white people, and there is too much prejudice practiced on the part of the thoughtless members of that race, and far too much inconsideration of the life and comfort of the blacks of the South. These conditions can and must be eradicated. The dangerous white element discussed in The News' editorial is the most damaging prey upon the Southland. And there is a group of savage ignorance within the black race that can easily be compared with this group of whites who lead on destruction and disruption of a peaceful and happy community. Certainly the Negro is one to be pitied because of his disadvantages in past years and his limitations now. It is impossible for the black man, under the circumstances which now govern his action, to be a symmetrical, civilized citizen with the foes and condemning powers exercised against him. If he becomes the full man and force in the community as he should and ought to be, it is usually by accident and he escapes the attention of prejudice-making forces, as a man among men, before they start their hellish and nefarious schemes to impede his progress.

The Birmingham News' editorial is plain enough. It makes all the emphasis necessary as regards a just treatment of the black man. It tells where this prejudice and mean feeling generated; it tells in whose breast and in whose mind the damnable curse is. And the Negro should feel proud, with all of his shortcomings, with his lack of intelligence, with his lack of commercial vantage, with his limited power in political parties, that there is yet a hopeful sign and if he would take the opportunity offered, if he would make good within his own circle, his family, his community, and be a citizen and a man to his neighbor, it would open the eyes of men, women and citizens of the opposite race and in time the very men who abuse us and curse us will be compelled by force of circumstances to place upon our brow the victor's crown. Every man must win his way; every race must win its way; it is not all in color nor is it all in section. The greater volume of our problem is in character, in brain and heart culture. We must be so honest that we can be daring and courageous as men, that we can look men in the face, can speak of justice, can plead for the rights of citizenship because we live it and we give it.

This advice from the News could be practiced with profit by many of our own members as it regards these returning down-and-out pilgrims; we, too, can hand them the hand of welcome and provide, as far as practical, a comfortable place.

Associated Negro Press

Press Association Closes

Nashville Globe

MEETING HELD IN WASHINGTON

Many Notables Present.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—(National Negro Press Association Service.)—After a three day strenuous session the quill pushers, managers and reporters making up the National Negro Press Association, closed their annual convention in this city at 10:30 Friday night, February 4th. It was the twentieth coming together of the molders of thought and sentiment. The sessions were held in the Dunbar High School and courtesies were extended by the principal of what is regarded as the largest and most modernly equipped high school in the United States. A mass of business was attended to during the week. The meeting was significant because of the large number of lady delegates in attendance.

It was thought that the meeting at Nashville, Tenn., several years ago was the high water mark, but a dozen members of the fair sex took advantage of the inauguration to attend these meetings. The sessions were presided over by Mr. J. Finley Wilson editor of The Washington Eagle, a vice president of the organization, owing to the absence of the president Mr. C. J. Perry, who is confined to a hospital in Philadelphia. While the membership of the organization numbers over one hundred twenty, the full membership was not present, the corresponding secretary's report shows that sixty-eight publications answered present to the roll call. Among the items of interest taken up by the Association were: 1—The perfection of their National Negro Press Service news, which is an improvement over the reciprocal news service and which will augment the inner circle telegraph service.

2.—The enlargement of the advertising office located at 489 5th Ave. and in charge of J. R. B. Whitney. 3—The appointment of standing committees upon whose shoulders will devolve the enormous task of shaping the policy of the Press to conform to as well as function in the sphere that it is destined to fill. Among the most important committees was the one to issue the address to the country, whose document is to appear in the leading journals throughout the United States. The Association went on record as favoring an increased profession among the members of the race. A resolution introduced by Dr. J. A. Lester of the Meharry News Nashville, Tenn., which was unanimously adopted, reads: "Resolved That the National Negro Press Association realize the lack of professional men to care for the health of fifteen millions of people, therefore we, the members of the National Negro Press Association, pledge ourselves anew to encourage suitable young men to enter the profession of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy." The Association also went on record for a clean bill of health throughout the race. The concensus of opinion of the organization was: 'As it is evident that the Jim Crow cars as a rule are very dirty and unsanitary, thus making them dangerous germ breeders and carriers, in our judgment it is vastly important that our physicians who have patients suffering from contagious diseases, should furnish the public with information as to their investigation of the case under their care and the probable source of contagion or infection.' There was a high sounding note throughout the sessions of the convention of the amount of work done Much legislation was offered by the female delegates. Prominent among those on the floor from time to time were Miss Victoria Clay of St. Louis, Mo., Miss Annie Mae Smith of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. C. R. McDowell of Hannibal, Mo., Mrs. Georgia A. Smith and Mrs. Mary L. Ayers of Savannah, Ga., representing the Savannah Tribune. Many dignitaries were introduced during the sessions. Dr. A. S. Jackson of Dallas, Texas, thrilled the convention with an inspiring address, as did Mr. A. E. Malone of St. Louis, Mo., Miss Annie Mae Smith of Chicago, Ill., Col. Henry Lincoln Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., Prof. Garnett C. Williams, principal of Dunbar High School of Washington, D. C. The report of the treasurer, B. J. Davis, of Atlanta, Ga., received great commendation, as it was the second time in the history of the organization that a balance was brought forward on the credit side of the ledger. This was followed by a report of the secretary of the advertising committee, J. R. B. Whitney, who elicited much commendation by the manner in which he showed the work being done through his office to enhance the financial returns of the several newspapers. He showed a number of large contracts already under way with space buyers. The reports of the officers consumed the better part of one entire session. Much regret was expressed at the absence due to illness of President C. J. Perry, and Dr. J. A. Hamlett, who was detained on account of pressing educational duties at Northwestern. Many social functions were given during the week by the Washingtonians. The local committee was in charge of J. Finley Wilson.

The first public affair was Wednesday night, March 2nd, at the Mu-So-Lit Club, at which the following program was scheduled: Welcome Address, by J. C. Chestnut, president of the club, followed by remarks On Behalf of the Bar, by Judge R. H. Terrell; On Behalf of the Press, by Ormond W. Scott; On Behalf of the Medical Profession by Dr. A. M. Curtis; On Behalf of the Public Schools by C. Wilkinson. But the real treat of the evening was the welcome address by Jno. H. Paynter, the author and writer, of the District of Columbia, whose books, "Join the' Navy," and "A Fugitive of the Pearl" have stirred Washington. The Press was represented in response by Jos. L. Jones of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Henry A. Boyd of Nashville, Tenn. Numerous visitors spoke. Mr. Chas. Cottrell, ex-representative or collector from Hawaii was among those who electrified the great concourse at the club during the afternoon. Then on March 3rd the newspaper men were entertained at Howard University, the entire student body assembled in the chapel at 12 o'clock and were thrilled by addresses from representatives of the press. President Durkee, of the University, called the student body to order and then presented Mr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Scott in turn told of the work of the Press, and then presented J. Finley Wilson, the vice president of the sessions. Mr. Wilson reiterated his former statement that the Press was the molder of sentiment and that no community in the United States was better prepared to admit this than the city of Washington. He introduced the representatives of the Association as follows: Jos. L. Jones, chairman of the executive committee, Cincinnati, Ohio; Wm. H. Harrison, Chicago, Ill., legal representative; Henry A. Boyd, Nashville, Tenn., Bishop I. B. Scott, of Nashville, Tenn. After the remarks and the exercises in chapel the Press was entertained with a four course dinner in the dining room of the university, after which they were shown over the grounds and the proposed buildings authorized by Congress for the new industrial hall and dining room.

The Dunbar Civic Center was also host to the members of the quill, and there was an inaugural reception at the Convention Hall Friday night, which was the climax of the three days' session and three nights of the highest possible entertainment.

Among the representative newspaper people in attendance throughout the week were Jos. L. Jones, Cincinnati, B. J. Davis, Atlanta, Ga., Miss A. M. Smith, Chicago, Ill., Chas. T. Magill, New York, Miss C. R. McDowell, Hannibal, Mo., M. G. Duger Wilmington, Ohio, Bishop I. B. Scott, Nashville, Tenn., Chas. B. Chappelle, Seckonde, West Gold Coast, Africa, Mr. Arkhurst of Africa, Eugene Wilson, Newport News, Va., Mrs. Mary A. Ayers and Mrs. Georgia Smith of Savannah, Ga., V. J. Wilson, New York City, Miss Victoria Clay, St. Louis, Mo., W. S. Cannon, Atlanta, Ga., E. J. Scott, Washington, D. C., Luther D. Sadgwa, Washington, D. C., Paul D. Scott, Chas. E. Lane, Washington, D. C., E. P. Booze, Mound Bayou, Miss., A. McKinley Thomas, Washington, D. C., A. L. Holsey, Tuskegee, Ala., J. A. Langford, Washington, D. C., Phil. H. Brown, Hopkinsville, Ky., H. A. Boyd, Nashville, Tenn., Melvin J. Chisum, Saulsbury, Md., J. R. B. Whitney, New York City, C. R. Richardson, Richmond, Ind., J. H. Murphy, Baltimore, Md., P. W. Andrews, Baltimore, Md., J. E. Mitchell, St. Louis, Mo., Frank A. Young, Chicago, Ill., Jas. Russell, Jr., Washington, D. C., G. A. Morgan, Cleveland, Ohio, Rev. Prince U. Kaba, New Orleans, La., F. Arjhurst, Seckonde, Gold Coast., Africa.

The greater part of the last day was devoted by the members of the Press to the viewing of the inaugural ceremonies and attending the remaining functions and social courtesies extended or given in their honor.

Pres. Harding Praises A. N. P.

Tennessean News 4/1/21

Washington, March 28.—President Harding gave his first official utterance on the "Race Problem" to the public on the 12th of March in an open letter to Nahun Daniel Brascher, the editor of the Associated Negro Press. The letter reads as follows:

"The White House,
"March 12, 1921.

"My dear Mr. Brascher:

"In the last year I have had some opportunity to learn of the work of the Associated Negro Press and I am pleased to say that so far as I have noted it is doing a useful work in the direction of establishing a sound and enlightened attitude of mind toward the race problem in this country. I feel that co-operation and mutuality of understanding together with a spirit of tolerance and helpfulness will do very much toward betterment in all phases of our national life. I am most desirous of encouraging every activity of this kind.

"Sincerely yours,
"WARREN G. HARDING."

Cincinnati Ohio, May 23.—(National Negro Press Association Service.)—According to the action of the Executive Committee, as announced here today by Joseph L. Jones, Chairman; J. Finley Wilson has been officially notified of the death of the former president Chris J. Perry and at the same time, asked to take official charge as the Chief Executive of the National Negro Press Association. Chairman Jones state dthat this action had been taken after he had had a conference with the Corresponding Secretary who stopped over on his way East, last week and after he had gotten in touch with the members of the Executive Committee. Mr. Jones stated that the wording of the constitution was not clearly expressed in this subject, but that the association was following the precedent set by other organizations where the head passed away or was removed by death. Mr. Wilson, the new president, has been an ardent worker in the association of newspaper men for a number of years. He is serving his second year as First Vice President, a position he held at the time of the death of Mr. Perry. He is also the chairman of the Advertising Committee, which has its headquarters located in New York City. From the information gained here, it is understood that Mr. Wilson, is one of the liveliest and most wide-awake newspaper men throughout the United States, and his journal, The Washington Eagle, published in the Nation's Capitol, has served the entire population for hundred of miles each way. While he is a product of Tennessee, he has lived in the East close on to twenty-five years and is regarded as one of the most widely known men connected with the quill pushers' organization. He was elevated to the First Vice Presidency at the meeting of the association in Nashville, February, 1920, and presided throughout the session at the last association convention held in Washington, D. C., as the late Mr. Perry was then confined in the hospital and unable to be present.

Chairman Jones stated that one of the first official acts of the new president would be to call, perhaps a conference of the newspaper men with the Executive Committee. Just where this will be held, he is not certain, but said in all probability, the corresponding secretary would be in the East before the middle of July and would hold a conference with the new president touching matters affecting the members of the organization throughout the United States.

National Press Week, September 18 to 24

The Washington Advocate

The first National Press Week will be observed from September 18 to September 24. This idea is fostered by The Associated Negro Press, but it is hoped that publications throughout the country, as well as various organizations, will combine to make the event a success.

The object is to acquaint the public more fully with the part the newspapers of the country have taken in making the nation great, and the very important responsibilities resting with the press at this time in the molding of public opinion.

A general program will shortly be announced which may be easily carried out in any community, and which will have a lasting benefit upon the welfare of the people everywhere. The general them for the program of the week will be industry, loyalty and justice. Emphasis upon these three subjects will be given because of the present trend of events.

Prosperity is looked for again. It is believed that the early return of it can be helped by everyone industriously doing his bit to help it return. The people of the nation are exceedingly restless. Bolshevistic and radical propaganda are finding fertile soil in many locations. Loyalty to the nation, however, is a necessary tonic for the ills of the times. Justice is a principle upon which the nation is founded. If the nation is to build more stately mansions, "O my soul," then this building must go forward on the foundation of justice.

The people everywhere are urged to take the initiative in making "National Press Week" a success.

ASSOCIATE NEGRO PRESS RECEIVES CORDIAL RESPONSE

(By the Associated Negro Press)

The Times Plain Dealer Birmingham Ala 10/22/21

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—Cordial responses have been received by the Associated Negro Press from the Ambassador from Great Britain to the United States. The French Embassy, the Mexican and Chinese Legation, and others, following announcements of preparations to give adequate publicity in behalf of the World Conference on Limitation of Armament.

This is the first time in the history of Negro journalism that such unusual recognition has been accorded our newspapers, demonstrating the growth and importance of the press, as advanced through the enterprise of A. N. P. Service.

A NEW NEGRO JOURNAL.

The National Brotherhood Worker, Volume 1, No. 1, has just reached our desk. R. T. Sims and J. W. A. Curtis are its editors. The place of publication is Washington, D. C. It is the Official publication of the National Brotherhood Workers of America, an organization whose purpose is first, to Form Negro Labor Unions; Second, to Educate the Negro in the fundamentals of economics, and Third, to Emancipate the Negro from economic slavery.

This is the first Negro Labor Union Journal ever published in this Country and indicates development in the industrial consciousness of the race. It is the organized voice of the Negro striving for his rightful place in the economic life of the Nation to whose building his brawny arms have contributed so much of strength in the past.

When it is noted that 85 per cent of the cotton in the world is produced by the United States and 97½ per cent of the cotton produced in United States is produced by Negro labor, it is evident that the industrial system which yields the Negro workingman such small returns for himself and family, out of the entire proceeds, is fundamentally faulty.

Here is a vast field for an organization based on sane common sense principles to be of great service to the race. If the National Brotherhood Worker can further these ends, we welcome it to the task and the Southwestern Christian Advocate will lend its aid in such a laudable effort.

Too much credit cannot be given Mr. David Taylor and organization for the colored American. They have risen under the most trying circumstances they have made in the journalistic world.

Starting the newsy sheet less than a year ago, at 8th and Florida Avenue Northwest, Mr. Taylor, with the able assistance of his ever faithful and devoted wife, has built up one of the greatest news and advertising mediums in existence. The Colored American is now quartered in their own building, at 1935 9th Street, Northwest, a building which stands as a monument for untiring efforts and devotion to the interests of not one or two, but the whole race, as is vouched for by the past performances of the colored American.

The Eagle extends its congratulations to this prospering paper, and states that the world is wiser by its having come.

Up-to-Date Plant Has Been Recently Installed By The Company

Savannah Tribune

The Florida Sentinel, formerly published by Editor M. M. Lewy at Gainesville and Pensacola, Florida, but now at Jacksonville, has just installed a Goss, perfecting press and celebrated that event by issuing a twenty-page, well-arranged edition. Besides the prefecting press the company has a row of jobbers, a cylinder press and a full supply of type and a linotype. Prof. W. I. Lewis, who resided here a short time in the early nineties, is the editor. He is one of the most versatile writers of the race. Mr. Campbell, an old Augustian, has charge of the mechanical department and Gen'l Andrews heads the corporation that is responsible for the fine investment.

The Sentenel adds to that number of enterprising race journals that has installed perfecting presses. About a year ago we installed our perfecting press and added another linotype machine and a saw trimmer, job folder, etc. The New York Age about the same time placed in its mammoth press The other papers owning these presses are the St. Louis Argus, Philadelphia Tribune and Baltimore Afro-American. The Baptist Publishing Board also has one.

The Supreme Circle News of this state has recently installed a modern plant with a large Campbell press.

The Sentinel is one of our oldest journals now issuing its 35th volume.

You are hereby notified that the Annual Convention of the National Negro Press Association is being called to meet in the city of Washington, D. C., Tuesday, March 1st, 1921 and to remain in session up to and including Thursday night .March 3rd. Please accept this as the official call and notification, Mr. J. Finley Wilson of 900 U Street N. W. Washington, D. C. as the official of the Association and editor of the Washington Eagle will be in charge of the local affairs and will arrange stopping places for the members. If you find it impossible to attend please forward your proxy to the office of the Corresponding Secretary, Henry A. Boyd, 447 Fourth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. Business of vital importance will come before the Association.

Yours truly,
HENRY A. BOYD,
Corresponding Secretary.

Eagle 3/5/21

The celebrations, meetings, etc., of inauguration week began Wednesday afternoon with the convening at the Dunbar High School of the National Negro Press Association.

Nineteen members were present among them being such prominent newspaper men as Phil H. Brown, Charles T. Magill, Chicago Defender, New York; Eugene A. Wilson, Newport News (Va.) Star; J. E. Mitchell, St. Louis (Mo.) Argus; John Murphy, Baltimore Afro-American; J. R. B. Whitney, New York; V. Williams, New York Negro World, and many others. Several ladies were among those present, including Mrs. Mary A. Ayers and Mrs. George Smith, Georgia; Mrs. C. R. McDougough and Mrs. D. M. Hughes, Missouri, and Miss Victoria Clay, St. Louis. Hon J. Finley Wilson, first vice-president of the association, presided.

Music and Poetry Magazine.

Washington Bee 3/5/21

The February issue of Music and Poetry, published by the Holt Publishing Company of Chicago, is in hand. We must compliment the mechanical makeup and typographical arrangement of this new colored perdical as clean-cut in appearance, neat in design and void of "trash" and "ragged" literary style. The editorial on "Visions" speaks a message of its own in splendid English. Articles by Corinne Wilson, Louis Victor Saar and Mildred Bryant Jones are treated intelligently in a practical vein. The teachers' department, junior music and poetry department and poetic verses compare most favorably with similar matter in other current music magazines ,but the vocal number with words by Dunbar and music by Hilbert Stewart entitled "Love Song" while well written and containing excellent dynamic effects, is not quite smooth enough in some of its transient modulations. It shows musicianly taste, however, and deserves consideration.

5,000 INSPECT DEFENDER'S NEW PLANT "WELCOME DAY"

4/14/21 Chicago Defender

The Chicago Defender entertained approximately 5,000 people at its formal opening in the new plant Friday, May 6. At 12 o'clock noon the doors opening into the reception room were thrown open to the public and a throng began filing under America's flag and the Defender's welcome which overhung the doors, to be introduced to the mysteries and problems of a modern printing plant.

The reception room itself was done up in manner to give high credit to the institution, such as this great journal has become. As one entered, two murals by W. E. Scott attracted the attention. One, on the left, showed a daughter of Ethiopia holding in one hand the Defender, or Light, and in the other the balance scales of the rights and wrongs of men before the oppressed of all lands and climes. Facing it on the opposite wall a reproduction of the Defender had been made to illustrate the position it has assumed in chronicling the achievements of mankind and how it stands as a champion of progress. Under one painting the complete office equipment of the first Defender was exhibited, a small folding table and a single chair.

Many friends of the founder, R. S. Abbott, sent in beautiful flower gifts in various designs. Beginning early in the morning telegrams came from all parts of the country, lavishing the pride of 200,000 readers upon the founder for such signal success as the new plant symbolized.

Guides met the incoming guests an escorted them through the plant. Som effort was made to indicate just how paper was made. On the lower floor the general offices, the circulation depart ment, the publisher's office and res rooms were shown. Upstairs the guest were first shown the writing rooms, th offices of the managing editor, th sports editor, the art department, th dramatic department, the court re porter's office and the desks of th various reporters. From the writin or editorial rooms they were led int the composing room, where men were a work on the four linotype machines which are required to print the paper. In here each guest was given a metal slug with his or her name printed on it for a souvenir. Then the printed matter was followed to the hand-press, the make-up forms, the steam table where the matrices for stereotyping are made; the matrices were followed through the casting machine where the stereotype plates are made, and the plates were made, and the plates followed to the double-deck Goss printing press where after they were fitted on, the onlookers were given some idea of the action of a press which will print 35,000 copies of a thirty-two page paper, each hour.

At 10 o'clock, when the doors were closed, the crowd was still coming in. Their presence had made Friday, May 6, the greatest day in the history of the Chicago Defender. From Friday on it was announced that the doors of the plant will be open every day to the public.

NEGRO PAPER OPENS CIRCULATION DRIVE

Orleans Publication Seeks Largest Patronage of Kind in South.

Stressing the need in New Orleans for a proper spirited negro newspaper, the Negro Advocate, in its latest issue has begun a campaign for the largest circulation for a publication of its kind in the South. The Advocate has been published here for some time, and enjoyed a wide circulation in the small towns and industrial centers of the state.

Radically different from the negro papers in the North and East, the Advocate has struck a valuable note in the development of racial peace and harmony.

Beginning its campaign for a bigger circulation with a special edition, the Advocate carries a front-page feature editorial advising members of the negro race that "the negro's battle now is that of making himself fit, and that four out of five negroes are wage earners and invariably must report daily to some job created and managed by white men. A plan must be worked out whereby members of the two races will be brought closer together for the development of all."

The need of community service work in the city is emphasized in the edition with a cartoon picturing a fight of Truth, Thrift and Virtue against Laziness, Prejudice and Disease, and one of the editorial paragraphs of the paper says: "We have one leader who wants to take the whole race to Africa—another wants to take the whole race to hell. In the meantime, the cotton crop is being made right along and the sawmills still have plenty of labor."

NEW RACE PAPER LAUNCHED

Nashville Globe 7/1/21

Another race paper has been added to the list. The Inter-Church Bulletin, a four page religeous monthly, entered the field at Wilmington, O., recently. Its publisher and editor, M. G. Duggar, is an alert Denominational worker of the Baptists, trained with the pen and having official and intimate relations among church people that did fair to make his publication a formidable one in Baptist ranks.

DR. COOK TAKES OVER "MONITOR"

The Call 7/23/21

(By the Associated Negro Press.)

COLUMBUS, O., July 23—The Ohio State Monitor, over three years old, owned, controlled and oprated by Negroes, has been taken over by Dr. Francis H. Cook. He comes to Columbus from the South, where he has made a success as an orator and business man, that few men of the Race can boast of and all are striving to attain. In twenty-five years he has put on a sound basis. The Weekly Herald, of Natchez, Miss., The Spokesman, of New Orleans, The New Orleans News, The People's Defener, of Little Rock, Arkansas, and is contributing Editor of the National Union Review.

The Monitor has now 25,000 readers and it is his intention to have 250,000 by the first of the year. This plant affords employment for fifteen Negroes, in office now, besides the great hosts of agents and correspodents throughout the country. The Monitor is a member of The Associated Negro Press, The Tuskegee press service, The National Community press service, The N. A. A. C. P. press service and the National Negro Press Association. Dr. Cook is a product of some of the leading Colleges of the country.

LOOKING BACKWARD AND FORWARD

(By FRANKLIN F. JOHNSON)

Afro-American 11-5-21

Twenty-five years ago last Saturday occurred the first incorporation of THE AFRO-AMERICAN. It had been founded in August, 1892, by the late Rev. Dr. William M. Alexander, for many years pastor of Sharon Baptist Church.

It was back in the days when the race journal did not enjoy the success that it does today, and when the people at large did not feel the necessity for supporting such ventures. No journal in the country did enjoy prosperity in those days, and most of the owners of such had to follow other pursuits to make their livelihood. The New York Age, Washington Bee, Philadelphia Tribune, Richmond Planet, Cleveland Gazette, Indianapolis Freeman and Dallas Express were among the few secular race newspapers published then which are still coming out weekly.

T.Thomas Fortune was then wielding a trenchant pen as editor of the New York Age; Chris J. Perry, an old Baltimorean, was struggling with his Philadelphia Tribune; W. Calvin Chase, who died several months ago, was writing vitriolic editorials for the Washington Bee; John Mitchell, Jr., who had not then become a banker, was making the country hum with his lampoonings in the Richmond Planet; Harry C. Smith was fighting for the race in the Cleveland Gazette; the venerable Geoerge L. Knox was striving to make the Freeman a national organ, and the late William E. King was striving to make the Dallas Express the leading race organ in Texas.

Those were skimpy days for the race journal, and Baltimore, long regarded as the graveyard of colored newspapers, was way behind. Dr. Alexander and several of his colleagues accepted with alacrity the offer of the ill-fated Northwestern Supply Company to buy THE AFRO-AMERICAN, and the deal put through. The project was incorporated by the late William H. Daly, president of the Northwestern Supply Company; Dr. Alexander, John R. Cole, Charles H. Richardson and James E. Johnson, at that time employed on the paper, and now in business in Atlantic City. Capital stock of $5,000 was authorized.

The paper was making slow progress when the Northwestern Family Supply Company failed late in 1897. John H. Murphy, now president of the Afro-American Company and then a compositor on the paper, bought the journal from the receivers, taking charge on January 1, 1898.

An office was established on the second floor of 123 N. Liberty street, on part of the site where now stands the big office building of the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company. Later THE AFRO-AMERICAN was merged with the Ledger, then published by Rev. George F. Bragg, Jr., and published as THE AFRO-AMERICAN LEDGER. The "Ledger" was dropped, several years ago.

The merged newspapers were published at 307 St. Paul street until ten years ago when the present home at 628 N. Eutaw street, corner of Druid Hill avenue, was secured. This building was purchased nearly eighteen months ago by the Afro-American Company, which, by the way, was reincorporated about fifteen years ago.

With the great advance that the race journal has made within the last decade The AFRO-AMERICAN has been in the vanguard, and enjoys a circulation weekly that was hardly dreamed of years ago. Several linotype machines, a modern newspaper press, correspondents all over Maryland and elsewhere and an efficient local force are among the necesesities in getting out the paper weekly. A vast amount of news, some of which comes by telegraph, is edited weekly and given to the readers in a form which they may appreciate. There are only one or two weeklies, out of nearly 200, which boast of a larger circulation.

Eighteen persons are employed in the mechanical, business and editorial departments of the paper, and in carrying out plans for further expansion additional employes will be needed.

It is the intention of the present owners not only to increase the size from twelve pages, but to add such news and editorial features as will make it the one indispensable race journal in Maryland, fighting harder still against race proscriptions and for better schools and larger opportunities along all lines.

THE COMING ISSUE. 3/19/21

WE desire to acknowledge the receipt of "The Coming Issue" of Detroit, Mich., a monthly magazine devoted to the economic and social emancipation of a great and oppressed people. Its editor, W. O. Smyer, is president of the Detroit U. N. I. A. and he has had many fine things to say about Marcus Garvey and his movement. In some subsequent issues we will quote from some of the interesting editorials and articles of the little journal.

The Rt. Hon. James D. Brooks, Secretary-General of the U. N. I. A., has called our attention to the fact that the able and courageous editor of the Raleigh Independent is the treasurer of the local U. N. I. A. His paper had a splendid account of the meeting held in the interest of the U. N. I. A. in Raleigh, N. C.

ST. LOUIS TRIBUNE.

There came to our sanctum last week, volume 1, number1 of the St. Louis Tribune. It is indeed a stalwart youth and comes robed in princely garments. Sarcumah Journal

We want to extend the glad hand of fraternal greeting to the new comer 10/29/21 and will be proud to exchange courtesies with it. It comes endowed with proper ideas as may be seen by its motto; "The servant of the people." If our contemporary lives up to the signification of the motto, we are certain that it will at once fall into the spot light of public approval and become the vehickle of popular need.

As an earnest of our belief in the possibilities of ths giant youth, we excerpt its dedicatory announcement:

Dedication.

To no dogma or clique, or creed or party; but to a spirit, a thot, a hope, a longing. To the damnation of the masters and the salvation of the masses in the red age—struggle to live, and labor, and rise. To the lynched and the outraged, to the sudra and the bondman, to the wage-slave and the serf!

To all the millions of crushed and down-trodden, age-old victims of the creed and greed, self and pelf of earth—to these we dedicate this paper and consecrate our effort and force and lives and souls that the cause of the living of these may be served in the name of humanity.

CRACK ANOTHER WHIP

Chicago Whip 3/19/21

OMAHA, Neb., March 12.—The Chicago Whip is not the only Whip in the world. There is a brand new Whip, which is being published in Omaha. Its editor is George W. Parker. It starts off with two snorting editions and seems to be destined to follow in the wake of its namesake. The Omaha Whip has already started a campaign against the Uncle Tom leaders in the western city, and seems to be willing to use the lash unsparingly.

OMAHA NEB NEWS
MARCH 18, 1921

NEW WEEKLY NEGRO PAPER IS DISCONTINUED

The Omaha Whip, weekly newspaper recently started by George Wells Parker, negro, failed to issue this week, and it is understood, has been discontinued.

Ray Parker, brother of the editor, said today that Omaha printers refused to print the paper, and that interests he has attacked in the paper were responsible.

The paper was established to fight the Ku-Klux Klan, according to Parker, who denied that it was issued in the interests of the more liberal element, who desired to get city government back into their hands.

New York Age 3/12/21

The Negro Outlook which made its bow to the public with the January issue, is published monthly at Memphis, Tenn., and edited by M. V. Lynk. Its purpose is defined as a national journal of opinion and current events. Conspicuous among the contributors to the first two issues is T. Thomas Fortune, who writes with much of his oldtime force and pointedness. In a review of "The New Republican Administration and the Negro," Mr. Fortune concludes:

"What those who have offices to give out look at most steadfastly are votes. If the votes are compacted into an organization the more disposed are they to treat it decently and fairly who have offices to give out. Negroes have not sufficiently learned this fact, but they are learning it."

The necessity for effective political organization among the members of the race was never greater than it is today.

Taking into consideration that the national guard is the second line of defense of the nation, an army of 175,000 men is sufficient in time of peace. Long service in the army unfits too many men for usefulness in civil life. With regrets we note that colored citizens in southern states are not mentioned in the national guard service. Their only chance for military service is in the four regiments in the regular army, the twenty fourth and twenty fifth infantry, and the ninth and tenth cavalry.

The disbandment of the colored military organizations in the Southern states was due to the guilty conscience of white Southerners.

The editor of the Golden Chain Squall, published at Dallas, Tex., is sanguine of a better understanding between the races based on the fact that eight leading white citizens took part in a meeting held to aid a colored orphanage. He says:

Saying the least, to me, this was a strange revelation. I had thought and have endeavored to discover if the sympathy of the white man went beyond the Jim Crow signs and segregation districts. Now I must confess to know that it does. Here were assembled eight of Dallas' best, Texas' best, all aglow with enthusiasm for the uplift and salvation of the outcast and downtrodden of my race. In it I caught the vision of the large possibilities in racial cooperation, racial—yes, inter-racial—council and getting together on a sympathetic, working basis.

Lawlessness could not thrive, not nearly so in the measure it does, if we had a better understanding as to our sympathetic duties toward each other in things inter-racial.

We trust that the vision of possibilities seen by the editor will be realized in the extension of this better understanding to the suppression of lawlessness and the accordance of a square deal.

New York Age

Dublin's Weekly Bulletin, which is heralded as an official (undenominational) church, lodge and social organ of Memphis and carries the name of T. Thomas Fortune as chief adviser, says:

7/23/21

The question of high rent and small pay for a daily wage is one subject uppermost in Memphis, especially the wage-earning classes, but as yet there have been no serious outbreaks or refusals to pay, or agree to pay, the rent asked, but it is coming slowly and as surely as night follows the day. One can escape, for a while, the grocer, the butcher and candlestick maker, but the landlord is a different proposition. There is no means of escape, as you will have him to settle with or the man with a dispossess warrant will put your belongings into the street. Ain't it awful!

The scarcity of housing facilities seems to be widespread over the country. With the decreasing demand for labor in the large cities, the result may be to force the unemployed back to the farm lands for food and shelter.

The Golden Chain Squall is the unique title of a new race weekly that hails from Dallas, Tex. It carries alongside the title head a cut of a man with a hoe and a girl at a typewriter, with this quotation from Roosevelt: "All men up, no men down." The Golden Chain part of the name appears to refer to a beneficial order, but the significance of the Squall will probably appear later.

PETERSBURG VA. PROGRESS[illegible]
FEBRUARY 28, 1921

COLORED PEOPLE AND CITY MANAGER

"THE WEEKLY REVIEW." A NEWSPAPER published by colored men of Petersburg for the benefit of the members of that race in this city, made its appearance Friday. It is a creditable looking sheet, of four pages, and judging from the advertising matter carried, we should say the colored business public intends to support it. The initial number contains no formal salutatory, the first place on the editorial page being given over to discussion of City Manager Brownlow and the attitude of the negroes of Petersburg toward him. Every white citizen should appreciate the position of the negroes on this question, assuming that the Review defined it correctly. The paper says:

There is no man in Petersburg for whom this newspaper has more respect than for Mr. Robert Brownlow the recently elected city manager. We have had the pleasure of twice hearing this polished gentleman address colored audiences. Each time we were thrilled by his deep sincerity and frankness. Despite advance reports to the contrary, Mr. Brownlow has most favorably impressed the colored half of the population of Petersburg that he is a man every inch as big as his job—and "that's going some."

Mr. Brownlow came to this city entirely unfamiliar with conditions here except by report. But it seems, in spite of this, that he has the man-sized courage to deal with it accordingly. It is unnecessary for us to recite for Mr. Brownlow's information details concerning the colored citizens under his jurisdiction. We could say that a recent government census gave them the national record for home ownership per capita—but he knows this already. We are equally confident that he is aware that the race relationship here generally is unsurpassed, if equaled anywhere in America. To these things we point with pride and inspiration.

Whether or not Mr. Brownlow has said so, those men who are best informed, have with confidence stated that he is the man who will make Petersburg go. Now, we, as citizens, realize that if Petersburg goes we are going with it. There are no ifs and ands about it—we have just got to go along or the town can not move. Mr. Brownlow knows this too, and knowing it, we believe to almost a certainty that he will give every encouragement and help within his power to our share of effort in the work of making Petersburg the best place on earth for white and colored people to live in.

Of course, Mr. Brownlow cannot revolutionize things in a day or month, or even a year. He has scientifically arranged his program. This requires the careful weighing of the city's needs in the balance of conservative reckoning. But with "tank-like" efficiency we believe that he will, or rather is, attacking the retardent forces of both races in Petersburg. Colored

Mrs. O. B. Smith of Evans has been quite ill the past two weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Crowder, on D avenue west. She is now some better and hopes to be able to return to her home soon.

Mrs. Maggie Manley, wife of Rev. R. B. Manley of the A. M. E. church, returned home Thursday after an extended stay at the home of her sister in Columbus, Ohio, where she went on acount of the illness of her mother.

Mrs. Eliza Green and daughter, Mrs. Mable Finley, entertained a large company at their home on North Sixth street Thursday evening, the honored guests being Mrs. Cynthia Taylor and Miss Mary Taylor of Memphis, Mo. Light refreshments were served and the evening spent in social pleasure.

Harry Green, who has been working in Milwaukee during the past year, is home for a visit with his mothr, Mrs. Eliza Green, on North Sixth street.

Madam Jerretà Morton, of Keokuk, Iowa, favorite dramatic reader, gave an enjoyable recital at the Second Baptist church Thursday evening. In a varied program of fourteen numbers she demonstrated her wonderful powers of voice and interpretation and held her audience in pleasing anticipation throughout the entire evening. She was especially good in Negro dialect and humorous selections and the hearty applause given them showed how close she got to the hearts of her hearers. Miss Berenice Miller of this city presided at the piano and gave several enjoyable selections.

The Iowa State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs is taking an active interest in the observance of health week and is endeavoring to interest our people over the state in the vital importance of taking a personal part in the campaign. ATLANTIC CITY N J UNION

The pastor of the St. James A. M. E. Church, New York and Arctic avenues, Dr. Daniel J. Brown, has entered the Press-Union contest and at the last report had secured 48,000 votes. Dr. Brown is the only minister of the Northside to enter the contest. This gives him a large field in which to work, and with ordinary success he should be one of the favored ones.

Dr. Brown is at the head of one of the leading churches of the State. St. James is the church of yesteryear in this city. She has enjoyed a prosperous congregation for many years. She has been blessed with a good choirmaster, the leading one of the city, Prof. R. A. Walker, for many years. She was the first church to take stock of her surroundings, and decide to keep pace with the general advancement of the city, by a rebuilding process, and a new and beautiful decorating scheme. In short, St. James has led in the religious life of the Northside for many years. To be called to pastor such a church as this, signifies at once the superior fitness and ability of the minister called. It can, therefore, truthfully be said that Dr. D. J. Brown is honored to be the pastor of such a church and the church is honored to have him as its pastor.

Inasmuch as he is the only Northside minister in this contest, all Northside residents, whether they belong to St. James Church or not, should leave their subscription at the good doctor's residence, 117 N. Pennsylvania avenue, or at his office in St. James A. M. E. Church, New York and Arctic aves. A good minister belongs to the community, which he serves as much as to the church to which he as been assigned. and the community should feel a keen interest in all that vitally concerns him. This should apply to Dr. Brown, who is first and foremost a kind-hearted brother, a Christian gentleman, a minister of God, a pastor and an orator of the first water. The Northside does itself proud to number him among its pastors. Let all hand their subscriptions for the Atlantic City Press and Union to this worthy prelate, who will be very grateful for such consideration.

GOING TO INAUGURATION

Every railroad in this country will carry its quota of passengers to the national capital on March the 4th, where a vast concourse of people will gather to witness the Inauguration. Thousands upon thousands will overrun every home and every public house in Washington, and will contribute their presence to this imposing spectacle. In the general exodus from this city, Miss Ruby Pratt, of N. Kentucky ave., together with her little ward. Miss Grace Brooks Belt, will be included. The will stay with little Miss Belt grandfather, Dr. Phil Broon Brooks.

Miss Pratt is the proprietress a well-stocked notion store at 34 Kentucky ave., which she has cently thoroughly renovated, and line of goods is most attractively ranged. She is ready to meet all t requirements of the spring shoppe in her line.

CONVALESCENT SOLDIERS HONORED

The West Side fire fighters gav a reception and dance in honor c the colored convalescent soldier who are spending two weeks in thi city as the guest of Rheims Pos 526. The affair was very hastily embarked and was a decided victory for the fire fighters, several of whom are themselves ex-soldiers and that coupled with their sense of honor and right impelled them to do their bit in paying a timely tribute to their wounded and incapacitated comrades.

The occasion was a decided evening of real enjoyment for all whose good fortune it was to share the hospitality of these good natured guardians of public and private property.

The boys deserve much credit for their part well performed in assisting in making the boys of our group happy and joyous, who freely gave their vitality upon the fields of far away Flanders and the Argonne all that was sacred and dear to every man regardless to which group, land or country he perchanced to hail.

Mayor Bader, Director Cuthbert and others honored the occasion by their presence and made addresses applicable to the boys in whose honor the affair was given.

FUNERAL OF MAINLANDER TODAY

The funeral services over the remains of Charles Wilson will be held this afternoon from his late residence, New Road and Washington avenue, Pleasantville, New Jersey. Rev. Ivy will deliver the funeral serman. Interment in Pleasantville Cemetery. C. E Flippin & Sons, funeral directors.

MRS. ROACH PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Henrietta Roach of 1722 Lincoln avenue, passed away Tuesday, February 22, 1921, at the home of her daughter's at 7.30 o'clock. Mrs. Roach had been ill since December of last year, during which time she had been a very great sufferer. She was born in Crisfield, Md., sixty-four years ago and had only lived in this city about five years. She was loved and admired by all whose good fortune it was to share her friendship and association.

Funeral will be held at her home in Crisfield, Md., Friday morning. The body will be shipped Thursday morning by Wm. N. Brown, of Philadelphia and C. E. Flipping & Sons. She was the mother of four living daughters and a large number of grand and great grand children. The daughters names follow: Mrs. C. Thomas, Mrs. H. Thomas, who married brothers of Ardmore Pa.; Mrs. Lucy Sterling of Crisfield, Md. and Mrs. Wm. H. Warters, of this city, whose husband is a red cap at the Penna. station.

PERSONAL

Miss Edna Green is ill at her home, 111 N. New York avenue. She will return to her duties Monday of next week.

ST. PAUL'S A. M. E. CHURCH will during Easter week dedicate their new $6000 pipe organ. Final adjustments will be made this week. It was erected by the Austin Organ Co., Hartford, Conn., and is of the most modern type. A program will be rendered each night, to which pastors, their congregations and local artists have agreed to contribute. The instrument is said to be the finest of any in a colored church in Ohio and among the finest in the country. The present church building was erected in 1906 and recent betterments have made the value of the site more than $100,000. The pastor is Rev. Dr. Edward A. Clarke, who is serving his second year. He has been identified with Wilberforce University as teacher and professor for a decade. He is recognized as one of the ablest divines of the race.

Mrs. Mary Seaton is president, and Mrs Osceole Alexander, secretary.

The first of a series of musical recitals by the local branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians, was given Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. Miss Marion Anderson, contralto, of Philadelphia, lived up to advance notices given in every way. She possessed a voice of exceptional range and volume. Better enunciation could not have been desired. From the ease with which she sang one readily gained the impression the tone quality of her voice had almost limitless possibilities. When she gets expression, and it will come with experience and the course of instruction she is now taking, many predict she will take her place among the stars of musical endeavor. She wore a simple gown of black satin, with beaded panels, which served to make her effort one of the most satisfying and successful held in Columbus in years. Mr. William L. King's renditions on the piano were almost as vociferously received as those of Miss Anderson. In

There is decidedly too much agitation on the race question. What we need is conciliation, co-operation and construction. Friction has often caused explosions. Apply the Golden Rule and go to work. This never-ending discussion of race issues is getting us nowhere, but causing us to imagine that which does not really exist. The South needs a rest from professional agitators.

"Scherzo in B Flat Minor," by Chopin, he exhibited the sensitiveness and light, coaxing touch of the accomplished pianist. The chorus of 100 voices trained and conducted by Leroy H. An audience that filled all the available space in St. Paul's A. M. E. Church was present Sunday afternoon at the first community musical by the local branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians. Those who were in position to judge purely from the art alone, voted it about as "classy" as any effort given by local colored talent in recent years. Not a "ragtime" or "jazz" note was heard during the program, of an hour and a half. There were nine numbers arranged in the most accomplished manner. The audience got just enough. It was a fine sample of gauging the public capacity for entertainment. There was a variety of violin, saxophone, piano, pipe organ and vocal selections, climaxing in an orchestral finale which sent the fine audience home in a happy mood.

Piano Recital at Normal Institute Tomorrow Eve

A large body of music lovers of the city will greet and witness the performance of a member of the race who, possessing an envious reputation of international fame as a musician, will make her first appearance in this city, in the auditorium of the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Hazel L. Harrison, of Chicago, Ill., is the noted musician and gifted pianiste who will give a piano recital. More than a master over the piano that the celebrated Blind Tom had been in his balmy days, Miss Hazel Harrison is, with a weath of painstaking and studious training, plus her gift, by some of the most efficinent and renowned teachers in this country and in Europe, notably in Germany. It is said of her that she performs with ease, grace and precision the most difficult classical music as well as those more familiar without wearisome that so commonly obscesses the greater part of unversed music lovers. She brings to bear, it is affirmed of her, no uncommon interest on her entire audience. She does all but make her piano talk. She inspires and delights everyone that sits through her performance.

Highly Enjoyable Vesper Program

While the sudden change in the weather materially affected the attendance at the vesper service, held yesterday in the auditorium of the local Young Women's Christian Association, at 457 Harding street, from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. interest in its program that was in charge of the Harriette Wall McClennan corps of the Girl Reserves of the association commanded a large and appreciative audience of girls and young women with a sprinkling of grownups of both sexes and of boys.

Miss Helen C. Yancey, of the teaching staff of Peabody High public school, on upper Jones street, and adviser to the corps, presided over the program with her wonted grace and dignity. The members of the corps, well versed in their parts, ably acquitted themselves. The singing was good, the congregation being led on the piano by Miss F. Irene Sanders, executive secretary, and Miss Bessie Butler, the new girls' work secretary, donned the role of receiver, seating the spectators.

The opening hymn, "Rejoice, Ye Pure in Heart," by the assembly, was followed by Scripture reading, St. Matthew 18:1-15, by Miss Yancey, concluding which prayer was offered and "How Firm a Foundation" closed the spirited devotional service.

The first number, a recitation, "It's What You Are Today," Miss Lucille Jackson; vocal solo, "Perfect Day," May Catherine Johnson, accompanist, Miss Rose E. Jones; paper, "True Friendship," Miss Ruth Penn; music, "Girls' Reserve Song," corps; reading, "The Old Arm Chair," Miss Alice Mason; paper, "Character Building," Miss Helen Maddox; closing hymn, "The Day Is Dying," congregation; benediction, Mizpah.

Center of Attractions This Evening

"The New Minister," for the benefit of the Junior Stewardess board of Union Station C. M. E. church, Harding street, Rev. C. C. Pettiford pastor, will be dramatized this evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Peabody High School, upper Jones street. President of the junior board of stewardess is Mrs. Edith Ivey. The cast of characters includes the following persons:

Fairmont Jubilee Singers

At Metropolitan Baptist church, Cedar street, Dr. Tartee, pastor, a great music spread is the appetizing feature this evening by one of Richmond's foremost bands of songsters, the Fairmont Jubilee singers. This is promised to be one of the greatest and sweetest musical treats. Those who on a former accasion hear this chorus know their singing ability. You can not afford to miss hearing these vocalists.

Concert First Baptist Church

There will be staged this evening at First Baptist church, Harrison street, Rev. S. T. Eldridge pastor, a literary and musical entertainment that is vouched to outclass any held there in many a day. Every member is well equipped in his and her piece, ready for the curtain to raise displaying a full house before which to shine and to enthrall. The proceeds will be donated to the church.

Young Women's Industrial's Entertainment

The Young Women's Industrial Beneficial Association will give its initial entertainment with a silver offering this evening at the residence, 224 Kentucky avenue, at 8 o'clock. Its president and secretary, Mesdames Phyllis Graves and Grace Birchett, respectively, are outspoken over the prospects of it affording an evening of unalloyed pleasure and enjoyment.

Birthday Delectably Celebrated

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Mason, on Brown street, was the scene of an enlivening birthday celebration, held last Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Mason, an accomplished pianist and wife of our popular local postman, who entertained her Sunday school class. A beautiful program was rendered by the class and consisting of solos, duets, recitations, etc. A gift from the class was a handsome hemmed stitched linen table cover, which was in a happy vein presented by Miss Marie Barlow, member of the class who adorned the post of mistress of ceremony. Then followed the serving of refreshments which were hugely enjoyed far into night, when all left, wishing their hostess many, many happy returns.

Gathered From the Passing Throngs

The host of friends and admirers of Mr. Curtis Gilliam, who has been the victim of sickness the past three weeks at his residence, on Farmer street, will hail with joy his ability to overcome, being up and out again at his post and receiving the glad hands. Miss Helen, his attractive daughter, her many friends will read regretfully of her confinement abed since last Monday by reason of sickness.

We are glad to note the improvement of Mr. J. E. Wilson, of 209 South South street, who has been forced to his bed the past week or so. He hopes soon to be able to be out again.

Mrs. Mattie Royall and children, following an illness of several weeks at their home, 218 South Little Church street, their many friends will be gratified to know, are much improved.

Funeral services over Mrs. Emma J. Royall were held last Wednesday at her late home, 337 Plum street, at 3 p. m., being conducted by Dr. Eli Tartte, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist church, who was assisted by Revs. A. M. Morris and Hicks, before a large assemblage of sympathizing friends. Deceased had for a number of years been a valued employe in the family of Mr. Spain and a member of the Lodge of Damon. Pallbearers were: Deacon Henry Hill, Messrs. Robert Morgan, John Lewis, James Stewart, William and Thomas Powell. Interment was made in East View cemetery. Undertaker T. H. Brown had charge of the funeral arrangements.
